

Las Vegas Magazine July 11, 2010

in the know current ❖

once 2know Annie Duke Poker pro and Celebrity Apprentice contestant

For the fourth consecutive year, poker pro Annie Duke and actor Don Cheadle hosted the Ante Up for Africa poker tournament at the World Series of Poker, on July 3 at the Rio, to support victims of the humanitarian crisis in Darfur, Sudan. The tournament has raised close to $3 million since its inception in 2007.

Moon and Playboy Club VIP host J-Roc shares some tips with visitors.

What comes with bottle service?
Bottle service is really the way to go. With bottle service, you get your own table to sit at, stand and dance on and party at all night. The cocktail waitress makes your drinks, you have bottle runners to clean up after you spill your vodka and Red Bulls and VIP hosts cater to your every need.

Is it harder for men to get into a club than women?
Yeah, it's 100 percent easier for a group of women. Sorry, guys, I feel your pain. It always has been and always will be easier for the girls. I think the main reason is miniskirts.

What's the best way to get the doorman's attention?
Not yelling at them would be great. You get noticed more when you're patient.

Bite Wednesdays might sound like a weekly tradition at Merlotte's, the fictional roadhouse on HBO's True Blood, but it's actually one of several reasons to visit Nu Sanctuary at Town Square Las Vegas (6605 Las Vegas Blvd. S.). This Wednesday, July 14, the restaurant presents its global fusion fare in the form of an $18 four-entrée sampler, including yellowfin tuna and watermelon bites (pictured), fried chicken wings with Thai flavors, filet mignon and toffee cake, plus cocktail specials. For more information, call 702.527.7851.

Annie Duke photo by Charles Bush

1951

The year of Frank Sinatra's first Las Vegas performance, which occurred in September at the Desert Inn. His final Vegas bow was in May 1994 at the MGM Grand.

❖ FIVESURE BETS

Bunny dealers at Playboy Club + Carrot Top-inspired Heat Miser cocktail at Minus5 Ice Lounge + Siegfried & Roy's Secret Garden and Dolphin Habitat at The Mirage + Stratosphere's death-defying SkyJump + Sugar Factory's (Miracle Mile Shops) savory crêpes

LasVegasMagazine.com 7.11.10 25