MADONNA X DOLCE & GABBANA

Two style icons have joined forces to create the perfect summer shades. Madonna and Dolce & Gabbana introduce a new sunglass collection called MDG (Madge, anyone?) that offers fashionistas six colorful and chic shades to choose from. Models range from lightweight metallic frames to feminine cat-like shapes to square and contoured wraparound styles. Choose from lighter or darker shaded lenses and pick from a color palette of reds, purples, blacks, blues and more. The real glamour of these stunners is the famous branding on the sides, but instead of the regular D&G emblem, each pair has MDG engraved on the temple with the letter M written in small raised stars.

BOND NO. 9 LAS VEGAS

Own a piece of Sin City with Bond No. 9's newest fragrance, which will exclusively grace the counters of Saks Fifth Avenue. The playful line of city scents welcomes Las Vegas — an attentive, fruity-floral fragrance that perfectly encompasses the spirit of an exciting night out in the desert town. The new Bond scent plays with the famous seductiveness of Sin City and the pulsing energy of the Strip; notes include peach blossom, ylang ylang, gardenia, tuberose, jasmin, amber, cardamom, vanilla, patchouli, musk, sandalwood and spicy woods. This sharp, unisex scent exudes the same excitement — and trouble — as the city it emulates.

LAS VEGAS FILM FESTIVAL

Attention film aficionados mourning the passing of CineVegas — the Las Vegas Film Festival is once again crashing the entertainment capital of the world June 4 - 6 and it has a new home at the Las Vegas Hilton. The festival prides itself on showcasing indie filmmakers, while giving emerging auteurs the chance to brush elbows with industry veterans. The event offers a variety of discussion panels, screenings, assorted premieres and celebrity appearances but it also stays true to Hollywood glitz and glamour with a closing awards ceremony. The annual festival, now in its third year, is sure to be a blockbuster affair, so don't forget the popcorn.
